The little girl had been a member of the McDonnell family since a baby when she was adopted. The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon and will be private owing to the contagious character of the disease.

The Third Grade school, Miss Witherow teacher was ordered closed for fumigation as was also the High School where a child of Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell was one of the pupils. All the books and belongings of the children will be thoroughly fumigated and unless further orders are issued, both schools will be reopened on Friday.

LITTLE BOY HURT

Freddie Pfeffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pfeffer, was knocked down by a horse on Baltimore street Wednesday evening sustaining a blow on the head which rendered him unconscious for a half hour. He is now recovering slowly from the injury. Freddie had been on a sled with other coasters and got off back of a larger boy who obstructed his view ahead. Martin Shealer was riding horseback and before he could get out of the way of the Pfeffer boy his horse's hoof had struck the child over the eye. Dr. Hartman was summoned and the boy's early recovery is expected. The accident was entirely unavoidable, it is stated.

A large crowd of coasters had a merry time on Baltimore Hill during the evening and the sport was at its best.

MILLION DOLLAR APPROPRIATION

Want Large Sum for Erection of Peace Memorial on the Battlefield. Commission to Meet in Washington Friday.

A million dollar appropriation will be asked from Congress at the present session for the erection of a great peace memorial on the Gettysburg battlefield. This is one of the plans of those having in charge arrangements for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle July 1, 2, 3 and 4, 1913.

As has been announced in these columns several times the fourth day of the celebration as now planned is to be in the nature of a peace jubilee and on that day the cornerstone of a great peace memorial is to be laid. It is for this magnificent structure that the large appropriation is now to be asked. What the nature of the building or monument is to be is not announced and possibly has not been determined.

This matter together with a number of others will be taken up at a meeting of the joint Congressional committee and the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg Commission scheduled for Friday morning of this week. The meeting has been arranged by United States Senator Oliver and Dr. J. A. Singmaster will be present from Gettysburg to present the plan of making the anniversary more than a four day celebration.

A dispatch from Sharon to the Philadelphia "North American" which refers to the million dollar appropriation request says "The War Department will also be asked to provide tents and food for the old soldiers who may visit the famous battlefield during the anniversary."

NEW ROAD SURVEY

A corps of State Highway Department surveyors is now working towards Gettysburg from York coming by way of Hanover and Littlestown to get data for the new roads provided under the Sproul bill.

The surveyors under direction of State Engineer Hand, of Pittsburgh, arrived in Hanover on Tuesday.

Wednesday morning they left for a point midway between Hanover and Spring Grove, on the York road, from where they will work toward Hanover. From there the survey will extend toward Littlestown, over the turnpike, and from that place to Gettysburg.

This road now being laid out, is one of the highways which will connect York and Gettysburg.

Returning, the surveyors it is stated will survey the road from Gettysburg to Hanover through Bonneauville and McSherrytown.

SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

Catholic Beneficial Society Holds Delightful Banquet in Xavier Hall. Mr. McSherry Toastmaster. The Speeches.

St. Francis Xavier Beneficial Society held their annual banquet in Xavier Hall Wednesday evening with about sixty members, their wives and friends present.

Rev. Father Smyth, who was guest of honor, offered the invocation after which the banquet was served by twelve young ladies of the society.

William McSherry, Esq., was toastmaster. Mr. McSherry extended to Father Smyth on behalf of the society a very hearty welcome to Gettysburg, saying that, although his stay here would be of short duration, yet it was the thought of all that he would be welcomed back at any future time if his superior saw fit to re-appoint him.

Father Smyth thanked Mr. McSherry for his kind remarks and the sentiments of good will on the part of all the members. He then spoke at length on the force of Socialism, and gave warning never to entertain its pernicious influences. Among others who made responses were, E. P. Wisotzky, Wm. F. Weaver, P. G. Breighner, Charles F. Redding, Edgar P. Hamilton, Charles E. Swisher, and Miss Genevieve Ramey of the Ladies' Auxiliary, all speaking on the various phases of the society life, their relation and example to the community in general.

After the toasts Mr. McSherry summed up the pastorate of Rev. Father Hayes who in a little over four years spent here worked untiringly for the temporal as well as the spiritual welfare of his people. On motion of Mr. McSherry, and seconded by Mr. Wisotzky a rising vote of thanks and appreciation was taken for what Father Hayes has done for St. Francis Xavier church and providing that Father Smyth convey to him sentiments of regret, yet of those of peace and happiness as he leaves to go back to his old home where as a poor boy he worked on the farm before entering the priesthood many years ago.

Father Smyth then spoke in glowing terms of Father Daugherty who comes as pastor Friday. He said he was sure that all could not help but like him and that he hoped that priest and people would continue to do in the future as they have in the past, to work hand in hand for the common good, promising that all would be richly rewarded when the final summons comes.

Mr. McSherry then wished Father Smyth peace, health and happiness in his new fields of labor when upon the arrival of Father Daugherty, he will be called elsewhere, and wishing one and all the same, peace and happiness during the coming year of 1912. Father Smyth again thanked the entire congregation for the good will shown him, and said that he would never forget Gettysburg, that he liked the town and everyone whom he had met.

This closed the banquet proper, and also one of the most prosperous years in the history of the society. Dancing was kept up until 11.30. The committee was composed of P. G. Breighner, W. F. Weaver, J. C. Eckenrode, Joseph Carver and Francis Altoff.

DRIVING ACCIDENT

Wednesday afternoon Roy E. Zinn's sleigh collided with Major Robinson of North Washington street throwing the gentleman to the ground. The accident occurred on the Square. Mr. Zinn took him to Dr. Stewart's office where it was found that a slightly bruised nose was the only injury sustained. The accident occurred through a congestion in teams and Mr. Zinn did not see Mr. Robinson until the shaft of the sleigh had struck him.

RENEWS RELATIONS

After a lapse of several years Mt. St. Mary's and Gettysburg will resume athletic relations this evening. FROZEN PIPES CAUSE TROUBLE

Mrs. Charles C. Brown and her father, John Albert, of East Berlin, had an unpleasant experience about daybreak Monday morning. It happened when Mrs. Brown had started a big fire in their large range to which are also attached water pipes extending to a boiler on the second floor. The water front was blown out making a wreck of the entire stove. Mr. Albert was sitting back of the stove and was rendered unconscious by being struck by pieces of the broken range. Dr. Lau was summoned and found his injuries consisted of badly lacerated hands and bruised limbs. Mrs. Brown who was also in the kitchen at the time escaped without being injured but was badly frightened.

Rev. Mr. Brown who was up-stairs heard the report and hurried to the scene in his night clothes and was astonished to find the stove broken into more than a hundred pieces, the fire lying on the floor and starting to burn briskly which was quickly extinguished by the aid of his wife and neighbors. Every glass in the kitchen was broken by the sudden concussion.

The water in the pipes from the stove to the boiler had frozen during the night and after the fire was started steam began to form but could not circulate which was the immediate cause of the explosion.

Mr. Albert's injuries are not considered serious. This is his second misfortune within a few months, having just recovered from several broken ribs and other injuries sustained last autumn.

TONIGHT

"The Mummy and the Humming Bird," one of the best society comedy dramas which has been before the public in years and has met with the greatest success everywhere, will be presented at the Wizard Theatre this evening. The play is one of the most interesting comedies seen here in many a day. It is very cleverly constructed and it "holds the mirror up to nature" in a very searching sort of way. It is a bit of society life placed upon the stages and shows very vividly the follies, vanities and mistakes which often bring about serious complications between husband and wife, but, in this play the rare strength and wisdom on the part of the husband saves the situation.

The York Gazette this morning spoke highly of the show which appeared in that city on Wednesday evening.

The Glee Club of Gettysburg College will give a musical entertainment at Fairfield, Friday evening, January 19th.

CARNEGIE DENIES HOLD-UP IN STEEL

Asserts Selling Price to Trust Was Not Excessive.

FAVORS INDUSTRIAL COURT

Ironmaster Also Raps Banking System as a "Disgrace to Civilization" and Breeder of Panics.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Andrew Carnegie was an involuntary but very interesting witness before the house committee investigating the United States Steel corporation, and he set forth in vigorous terms his idea of the American banking system and of the need of an industrial court to solve the trust problem.

Mr. Carnegie had been requested to appear voluntarily before the probers, but had declined because he was named as a defendant in the government's suit to dissolve the steel corporation as a trust. Then the committee peremptorily summoned the iron master and he appeared.

In his direct testimony he denounced the banking system in the United States as a "disgrace to civilization." He said:

"When panics come in this country they are due to the fact that we have the worst banking system in the world. Panics spread ruin, and if the bill now before congress is passed you will have something to prevent such panics."

Mr. Carnegie emphatically denied that the United States Steel corporation was the victim of a commercial "hold-up" when it took over the Carnegie interests. He declared that once and for all he wanted the people of the country to know that the price paid by the Steel corporation for his interests was a fair one.

This was brought out when Representative Sterling asked him whether he thought the United States Steel corporation could have organized with any success had it not required the Carnegie holdings.

"I prefer not to answer that and praise our own organization," said Carnegie, "but by judging by today, if any man bought the steel interests which I sold for $120,000,000 he would be safe."

Carnegie told how the Morgan interests approached Charles M. Schwab with a proposition to purchase the Carnegie Steel company. He said in determining the price to be asked on the option, the steel interests were considered worth $250,000,000; that the H. C. Frick Coke company was added to that amount at $70,000,000, and $100,000,000 was tacked on to that as the amount which the Steel corporation had gained in value.

"I had determined that my old age was to be spent not in accumulating, but in distributing. I told Schwab that all depended on my partners, but that I was ready to go at any time."

"Right here let me say that I asked $420,000,000 for the Carnegie interests, and of that I received $213,000,000. All this talk about my holding-out for a high price has no foundation. I considered what was fair. I never saw Morgan. I have been told that I should have asked $100,000,000 more and that I could have got it. But I want to stop all this talk about my forcing high prices."

"If we had not sold out the United States Steel corporation would have been a considerable concern. It paid $40,000,000 the year before it was sold and it was on the road to paying $50,000,000 next year."

Mr. Gardner asked Carnegie whether he knew that the Steel corporation issued $192,000,160 in securities to purchase the Carnegie Steel company for which only $420,000,000 was received.

"I didn't know that," said Carnegie; "that is another surprise that I have had."

Mr. Carnegie declared he never remembered attempting a pool, and that he knew nothing about the steel pool organized in 1906-7, until after his return from Europe.

"If I were legislating against pools," he added, "I would exempt railroads."

Mr. Carnegie said he was still of the opinion there should be no tariff on any article which could be made the subject of a pool.

His ideas of the trust problem, the Sherman anti-trust law and the need of an industrial court were set forth in a written statement addressed to the investigating committee.

Mr. Carnegie told of the incorporation of the Carnegie Steel company, with a capital of $320,000,000, which he said included all iron, coke, steel and ore interests. He added even at that time earnings justified this capitalization.

MILLIONS SAFE IN EQUITABLE RUINS

Securities Worth Over a Billion Intact in Vaults.

FIND VALUABLE RECORDS

Bodies of Three of Those Who Perished in Flames Are Still in the Ruins and May Not Be Recovered For Weeks.

New York, Jan. 11.—The biggest news that came from the ice palace that was once the Equitable building was the announcement by President William A. Day, of the assurance society, that the securities, worth $1,000,000,000 or more, stored in the vaults of the Equitable and the Mercantile Safe Deposit company, are unharmed and that the 90,000 policies on which the Equitable had loaned $70,000,000 had been found intact in the steel cases on the second floor. One small vault of the Equitable was opened and over $50,000,000 in stocks and bonds removed.

The ruined building, crystallized with ice on all four sides, and with smoking and here and there with in where the wreckage mounts high, still holds the bodies of Battalion Chief William J. Walsh, of the fire department, John Campion, the safe deposit company's watchman, and Frank P. Neider, another Mercantile watchman. It will take weeks to remove the debris.

The officers of the Equitable Life Assurance society and of the Mercantile Safe Deposit company sent vault experts into the ruins to determine if possible whether there was any reason to be worried about the securities.

E. M. Williams, secretary of the Mercantile, and W. C. Poillon, vice president of the vault company, climbed over ice hummocks and piles of wreckage and satisfied themselves that the fire had done little damage. In these vaults are stored the securities of the Harriman and Gould estates, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of Kohniz Brothers, August Belmont & Co., William A. Read & Co., and others.

Accompanied by Deputy Chief Binns, Vice Presidents Strong and Thornton, of the Bankers' Trust company, visited the great strong boxes of the Equitable society on the second floor. They assured themselves that the vaults were uninjured and that there was no reason to suppose that the $274,000,000 worth of Equitable securities there were harmed. E. E. Rittenhouse, representing President Day, reported to the meeting of the executive committee of the board of directors that the securities could be removed in three days. It was thought best to wait that long to make sure that the temperature of the interior of the vaults had cooled down.

Assistant Secretary S. S. McCurdy, of the Equitable, who had been inspecting the fire swept offices on the second and third floors, reported cheerful news to the new quarters of the society in the City Investing building. McCurdy, after a good deal of climbing about, got to the offices of the society on the second floor. He discovered at once that the minutes of directors' meetings covering all the years since the organization of the society were safe, together with other records that were lost it was at first feared.

Menace to nearby property from the shaky walls of the gutted building was officially recognized by the fire department, which ordered a sixteen-story office building across the narrow width of Cedar street from the Equitable structure, vacated.

ROOSEVELT HAS THEM GUESSING

What Did He Say About Candidacy at Club Dinner.

THREE VERSIONS GIVEN

One Says Colonel Declared He Is Not a Candidate, But If Nominated Will Run, and Another Denies This. Third Non-Committal.

New York, Jan. 11.—Just what did Colonel Roosevelt say as to his possible candidacy for the presidency in his speech at the Aldine club Tuesday night?

This is a question that is vexing a good many New Yorkers. Reporters were barred from the dining room at the colonel's request, and the account of his speech given by those who heard it were widely at variance.

The first man to leave the club quoted Colonel Roosevelt as saying: "I am not a candidate for the presidency, but if nominated I will run." The next man out declared Roosevelt said: "I am not a candidate. I will not be a candidate." Another man declared that the colonel said was: "I am the most misrepresented man in America."

"The statements that have appeared in certain papers are absolutely without foundation in fact," Lawrence Abbott, acting for Colonel Roosevelt, who declined to receive interviewers, issued this statement in repudiation of varying newspaper accounts purporting to quote the colonel's dinner speech.

"Mr. Roosevelt will make no statement or comment of any kind regarding the Aldine club dinner. The dinner was a purely private club dinner. No representative of the press was present, no one took down what Mr. Roosevelt said, and I am certain that no one attempted to repeat it for publication, because to do so would have been to break faith. The statements that have appeared in certain papers are absolutely without foundation in fact," said Mr. Abbott.

It was reported that in the course of his speech Mr. Roosevelt said: "While I am not a candidate for the presidency I will, nevertheless, accept the nomination if it is tendered to me."

The dinner was attended by between 600 and 700 members and their guests, and a great deal of mystery was thrown around it. Reporters were not admitted to the room when the dinner was served, and were not permitted to loiter near for fear some word of the speeches might reach their ears. All of the diners were made to promise that they would not divulge anything that was said, but from one of them, who did not seem greatly impressed with the proceedings, the sentence from Colonel Roosevelt's speech was gleaned.

The toastmaster was Dr. Henry Van Dyke, a member of the faculty of Princeton university, and an avowed enemy of the political ambitions of Governor Wilson. The president of the club, Charles L. Patton, presided at the dinner.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke for some time, following the line of most of his other speeches and of his written articles in The Outlook. The impression prevailed that the attempt to obtain absolute secrecy for anything he might say was not serious, for the reason that the club is not a political organization, and among its members are men representing all shades of political opinion. And even if the politics of the members could be learned the political leanings of the guests could not possibly be discovered, nor could any plan be adopted to enforce secrecy on men who are not bound in any way to the Aldine club.

So if Mr. Roosevelt made the declaration attributed to him was done, it was suggested for the sole purpose to have it dribble out in order to assure his political friends that they could continue their efforts for his nomination without fear that their labor would be in vain.

Risks Her Life For Children In Fire.
Notre Dame du Sacre Coeur, Quebec, Jan. 11.—One man and four children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the residence of Joseph Desrochers. Desrochers, awakened by smoke, carried his unconscious wife out. Mrs. Desrochers, revived by the cold air, rushed back into the house for her four children, but was forced out by neighbors, though not until she had been so badly burned that she may die. It was impossible to rescue the children and a butler.

Sage Tea Will Darken The Hair

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented. Don't neglect your hair. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and notice the difference after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. For sale at the People's Drug Store.

FIRE IN COLLEGE HALL AT VILLANOVA

Priests and Students Save Valuables.

Philadelphia, Jan. 11. — Villanova college suffered the loss of $75,000 when fire swept through St. Rita's hall, the oldest building in the group of the college at Villanova, virtually destroying it.

The fire, which is said to have originated from an overheated pipe or by crossed electric wires, was rendered spectacular through the heroism of the students, priests and monks, led by President Dohan, who saved statues, valuable paintings, furniture and even altar cloths at the risk of their own lives.

The damage to the hall, according to Father Hickey, rector of the hall, amounted to $65,000. The property destroyed in the building was worth in the neighborhood of $12,000.

Three of the members of the volunteer fire companies from Bryn Mawr, Radnor and Wayne escaped death by a narrow margin when the east wall of St. Rita's hall crashed outward. Two of them were injured, although not seriously.

During the height of the fire Philadelphia was asked to send aid and two hose companies were sent over by the Pennsylvania railroad.

Memory of Dogs Prompts Bequest.

New York, Jan. 11.—The memory of two dogs is honored in the will of the late George Wales Boren, of Boston, which was filed for probate here, by a bequest of $1000 to the Boston Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The will leaves $500 to the society in memory of his "sister Grace's dog Scotty, and $500 in memory of Mrs. William Benson's dog Sandy."
